

It is my understanding that some (NAB) are trying to limit the content offered to subscribers of the XM Radio service. It would be my humble opinion that XM should be allowed to offer whatever content subscribers to their service are willing to pay for. Specifically local traffic and weather conditions. NAB should not be allowed to limit this content. Their efforts are designed to limit the availability of content to their resources. It should be obvious this does not benefit the average American.

Thanks,

Tom Stephenson
Surprise, Arizona